COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

Last week a trip was made to the Maine Civil Defense Warehouse at Winthrop to obtain government surplus supplies and equipment. Civil Defense has numerous items available to towns that are on the eligible donees list. As Bethel is on the eligible donees list we were in a position to take advantage of the opportunity. The articles obtained were either new or in A-1 condition.

More important items obtained were a 2-ton electric hoist, water pump and gasoline motor, snatch blocks, lanterns, peaveys, suction hose, wrenches, and reamers. The total cost to the government $272.44. Cost to the town $124.70, or a little over five cents on the dollar.

Requisition is being made for a compressor and 4-wheel drive jeep. Currently there are none available, but by filing a requisition at this time will place the town on the eligibility list. The last time these two items were available the compressor sold for $150.00 and the jeep for $100.00.

Sincerely,
Harold L. Bean

Mundt Homestead Burned Friday

The summer home of Mrs. Charlotte Whalen of Somerville, Mass., on the Grover Hill road, was nearly destroyed by fire last Friday evening. Household furnishings on the ground floor were saved, but all on the second floor, including many treasured books and antiques, was lost. The barn, connecting shed, and most of the house were destroyed. The family had just arrived to spend the week end.

The fire evidently started around the lighting plant in the barn. The Bethel fire department was called at about 8:30, but were hampered in their work by lack of water in a nearby brook and difficulty in reaching another stream caused by many cars crowded along the narrow road.

The farm home, formerly the Fred Mundt place, was purchased by Mrs. Whalen two years ago. Plans for rebuilding are being made. The loss, estimated at $5,000 on the buildings, is partially covered by insurance.

Early Darkness Fall Driving Hazard

"Tree limbs, once covered with leaves, are now bare; skies which were blue are turning grey; and the long daylight hours of the past summer season are now shortened," the Maine Highway Safety Committee reminds us. "Add to these changes the dropping temperatures, the frost warnings from the weatherman, the hazards of night and early morning fog, and the lengthening hours of darkness—and the motorist has reason to believe that there must be 'some changes made' in his driving habits and his vehicle care."

"The committee continued: 'Earlier sunset-time calls for earlier reduction of vehicle speed. Also, with more driving at dusk and after dark, special attention must be given to auto lighting systems. Make certain that everything is in order along this line.'"

The State safety group also pointed out these important considerations: "The driver must be able to see in time to stop safely. This calls for clear vision, emphasizing the need for windshield wiper blades with new, live-rubber blades. 'A defroster is another vital safety item for winter driving. It should work properly to overcome fogging ed."

The last quarter of the year is a particularly dangerous period for pedestrians, the Maine Highway Safety Committee cautions. The safety group urges us to make doubly sure that we do not enter the traffic stream until it is safe to do so. Late afternoon and early evening hours are the most dangerous. Don't depend upon the driver to protect you. It is entirely possible that he does not even see you. Don't take chances. Cross at intersections instead of in mid-block and keep out of the roadway whenever possible. Remember, the driver has many problems. Don't gamble that he will be able to avoid you.

Never measure a vacation trip in miles says the Duncan Hines Hines Vacation Guide. Rather, measure it in the things you see. Trying to drive great distances in a day makes a vacation work and a nightmare. When you get back home, you're more tired than when you left home.

The secret of Duncan Hines' safety record of nearly 2 million miles driven without an accident, says the Duncan Hines Institute, is that he reads highway signs and heeds them. If they say SLOW—he drives slow. Duncan Hines advises that you keep your mind on your driving and don't try to break records. Be sure to stop when tired.

Many shelters have peacetime uses, too, such as underground parking garages. (Swedish Civil Defense Photos)

SALT MINE under metropolitan Detroit, Michigan, offers a unique civil defense opportunity for a large target city to provide both blast and fallout shelter for a substantial number of its citizens with a minimum amount of additional excavation. The mine—second largest rock salt mine in the world—is 1,137 feet under the surface. It would need more equipment and access ramps or elevators to serve as a mass shelter from attack. Good printing is a necessity in all forms of business. It can save hours of work, speed up routine tasks, eliminate common errors and help to avoid misunderstandings and costly delays or actual loss of business revenue.

Good printing is a convenience in the home. Inexpensive personal stationery is not only economical and in good taste but it is plain "good business" when used for other than social purposes. One's name and address plainly printed offer exact information of your identity in occasional correspondence.

The latest in modern business forms can be adapted to use in many comparatively small businesses. As a matter of economy of time and money, it will pay to see what we can do for you in this line.

Remember that printed matter can be bought at widely varying prices. The bargain hunter can only hope to get his money's worth. The cost of good printing need not be high, and the buyer is assured of satisfaction.

It will be of advantage to all users of printed matter to consult us before buying. We can supply calendars, NCR and one-time carbon forms, many kinds of forms and office supplies promptly and economically.
